

CGRS Expands Arizona Presence with Acquisition of Tank Solutions

The addition of Tank Solutions strengthens UST/AST compliance, installation, and repair capabilities for fuel distribution, retail, and commercial customers across Arizona

September 22, 2026

FORT COLLINS, CO / PHOENIX, AZ — CGRS, Inc. ("CGRS"), a leading provider of environmental compliance and fuel-system services across the Western United States, today announced the acquisition of Tank Solutions, a Phoenix-area underground and aboveground storage tank (UST/AST) installation, removal, and repair contractor serving fuel distributors, convenience retailers, and commercial site owners throughout Arizona.

The acquisition brings together two organizations with a shared focus on keeping fueling infrastructure safe, compliant, and operating reliably. Tank Solutions has built a strong reputation across Arizona for tank installation, removal, and modification work, including active participation in the state's Tank Site Improvement Program (TSIP), which supports compliance upgrades at fueling sites statewide. Combined with CGRS's existing compliance, inspection, and construction capabilities, the partnership gives customers in Arizona a single, expanded resource for the full lifecycle of their fueling infrastructure — from routine compliance and leak detection through installation, repair, and construction.

"CGRS has been building toward a full-service Arizona platform, and Tank Solutions gives us an immediate, trusted presence in the market alongside a team that customers already know and rely on," said Eric Hick, CEO of CGRS. "Wade and his team have spent nearly thirty years earning the confidence of fuel distributors and site owners across Arizona. Bringing our organizations together means those customers gain access to a broader set of compliance, construction, and service capabilities, while continuing to work with the same people they trust today. We're excited about what this partnership means for our ability to serve the Arizona market at a higher level."

Wade Pettit, President and Owner of Tank Solutions, will continue to serve as a key point of contact for Tank Solutions' customers and will work closely with the CGRS team to support the company's continued growth across the region.

"Our customers have always come first, and that won't change," said Wade Pettit, President and Owner of Tank Solutions. "What changes is what we're able to offer them. Joining CGRS gives our customers access to a much broader range of compliance and construction services, backed by a company with a strong track record across the Southwest. I'm looking forward to helping grow CGRS's presence in Arizona and continuing to work alongside the team our customers already know."

Tank Solutions team members — including its field technicians, crew leaders, and project management staff — will continue with the combined business, ensuring continuity of service and preserving the relationships and institutional knowledge that have driven Tank Solutions' success.

The acquisition adds to CGRS's growing footprint in Arizona, complementing the company's organic expansion into the state and reinforcing its ability to serve fuel distribution, government, and commercial customers with a full range of environmental compliance, construction, and fuel-system services.
